

The Dan Hinkley Plant Collection®

More Remarkable Plant Varieties from Our Global Plant Explorer

Dan Hinkley continues to astound us with his plant discoveries. We partnered with him in 2009 to launch The Dan Hinkley Plant Collection.® Each exciting variety added to the collection was chosen for outstanding attributes that will delight both plant collectors and home gardeners who are looking for reliable beauties for their garden.

From the high mountains in Taiwan comes the new Yuan Shan Hardy Schefflera. This unique Schefflera is one of the most exciting new introductions in recent times. It is very textural, with evergreen pinnate foliage along its lengthy stems. Assuredly the hardiest and rarest member of its clan!

Hydrangea Golden Crane™ promises to be an exciting addition to American gardens. Its large lacecaps of white and chartreuse appear in late spring - the earliest of all Hydrangeas to blossom. And, it is highly scented, a trait very rare in Hydrangeas. This superb selection was made by Dan Hinkley from seeds collected in Southern Sichuan Province, China.

Dan is one of the great plantsmen of our time and the only one to receive the “triple crown” of awards from the Royal Horticultural Society for his valuable contributions to North American Horticulture: the Veitch Gold Award, the Scott Gold Medal and the Liberty Hyde Bailey Medal of Honor. Dan assists Monrovia in the discovery of new and valuable plants, from home and abroad, and supports our trialing and evaluation program.
